Selectmen's Meeting

HEARING ON ROAD LAYOUT

About 20 residents attended a hearing concerning a town warrant article (by petition) which would ask the voters to accept Channing Road, Holly Lane and Tupola Lane as public ways. Sixty abuttors had been notified.

This proposal is a continuation of the policy that the town would consider acceptance of some streets from developments that date back before the adoption of present standards that require conformance to drainage and paving requirements by the contractor as set by the town. Because many developments fail to conform now but were built in accordance with the standards of their day, the town has instituted this flexible policy.

The people present were concerned with the status of the streets after the town acceptance. Primarily the concern was in how it would affect beach access and beach rights. Most or many of the property owners of the Pallatroni and Gingras development stated that they were guaranteed beach rights in the sales agreement and some had such guarantees recorded in their deed.

John Gannon said that it was his understanding that if the contract is not registered in the land court then every homeowner in the area must agree in order to pass on an unregistered agreement to a new owner.

Selectman James Huntoon explained that all of this is not the issue that the town would consider. He stated that the town's concern would be that the roads are up to standard concerning drainage and surface.

JOHN DeCOSTA, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN, MATTAPOISETT, PRESENTED TOWN CLERK LOIS BASSETT WITH A PROCLAMATION RECOGNIZING HER SERVICE TO THE TOWN. IN PROCLAIMING THE STATE-OBSERVED MUNICIPAL CLERKS' WEEK, THE SELECTMEN COMPLIMENTED MRS. BASSETT ON HER PROFESSIONALISM AND HER CONTINUING STUDY.

Richard Chase, representing the Planning Board, said that even if accepted there was no guarantee that the streets would be paved but that the town would have the obligation to maintain and plow the roads. To surface the road, the matter would have to come before town meeting for that specific purpose.

Developer Robert Gingras said that it was the intention to turn Briarpatch Lane over to an Association to provide private access to the beach. He stated that he would like to confer with the residents before the matter comes before the town meeting.

PROPOSED USE HEARING

A hearing was held on the use of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds in the amount of $116,764.95. The hearing was held in order to allow the public to submit suggestions concerning the use of this money. Since no one appeared with such suggestions, Selectmen voted to use the funds for municipal purposes as has been done previously.

SPRAYING PLANNED

John Denham told Selectmen that, should the weather permit, he would dormant spray to control gypsy moths in certain key areas such as Wolf Island Road, Long Plain Road, Acushnet, Chapel and Aucoot Roads and the Shining Tides area. The spraying will take 3 days of the last week of April.

ASKS FOSTER STREET DELAY

Mr. John Nosworthy wrote Selectmen to ask that a scheduled May 5th meeting to discuss Foster Street be deferred until August when interested summer residents will be present to state their views. The Selectmen will inform Mr. Nosworthy that the meeting will be held as scheduled with the hope that he or someone to represent him can be present.

CLEAN-UP

Selectmen received a letter from Governor Dukakis regarding a statewide campaign to clean up and promote anti-litter programs. Selectmen noted that Mattapoisett's Highway Surveyor Manuel Nunes has had such a program for over 40 years as town crews spruce up the streets and roads of the town.

LOCAL AID CHANGE

Information pertaining to local aid figures was received through the Massachusetts Municipal Association. One critical point was stressed: the $113,000 proposed local aid figure for Mattapoisett includes money for regional schools and will not be returned on the cherry sheet.

the making. It is interesting for many reasons. One is that it incorporates almost all the art forms we have discussed in the course of the year: quilting, painting, pottery, ceramics, sculpture, needlework, craft design and certainly administration and teaching. Another is that it explicitly deals with the question we have been asking throughout the year: "Is there a Woman's Art?" Everyone is welcome.

We have settled on a date for our field trip to the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, May 13th. Specific arrangements will be made later when we know who will be joining us. Everyone from the Club is welcome. If you know now that you will be joining us, call Lorraine Carr or Susan Smith.

"Murder in The Cathedral"

The Unitarian Memorial Church of Fairhaven, New England's own 15th C. Gothic Cathedral, will be the setting for the church Scholarship Committee's production of T. S. Eliot's Murder in the Cathedral on three successive evenings, May 20, 21, and 22. Director Angus Bailey of the SMU Theater Company, finds the Fairhaven church, in its architecture and appointments, the perfect "set" for the production. The action of the play will take place throughout the sanctuary, allowing playgoers to imagine themselves present at the scene of the crime. Written for the 1935 Canterbury Festival, Murder in the Cathedral is Eliot's poetic dramatization of the events which culminated in the murder of Archbishop

Thomas Becket at the altar of Canterbury Cathedral in the dark December days following his return from exile in France in 1170. The dramatic climax of the play "resolves" the conflict between Becket and Henry II about which powers belonged to the Church and which to the State, but history tells us that, although we may suspect Henry of having ordered Becket's murder, the King in no sense won the battle, because the martyred Thomas was created a Saint in 1173, and Henry was forced by the Pope to do public penance and to build a shrine to the new St. Thomas.

SMU alumnus William Begley, associated with the Trinity Square Repertory Company of Providence, heads the cast in the challenging role of the Archbishop. Three Priests of the Cathedral will be played by Chris Blackburn, E. Clyde Blackburn and Harold Holmes. The dual roles of the Four Tempters and the four murderous Knights will be taken by Fred Cavanaugh, William Poor, Dr. Lawrence van Heerden, Executive Minister of the Interchurch Council; and the Rev. Robert A. Thayer, minister of the Fairhaven church. Alfred Bazzinotti is the Herald, and the Chorus of Canterbury Women includes Noel Arsenault, Nathalie Blaha, Donna Dlugosinski, Dorothy Genthner, Laurie Hoeh, Rita Hotte, Dorothea Paull, and Pamela Thayer. Instrumental and choral music for the production is under the direction of Herbert H. Bowker, church organist and choirmaster.

Seating for each of the three performances will be limited to 200; playgoers are asked to be seated by 7:45 on Friday or Saturday evening or by 6:45 on Sunday evening. Tickets at 5.00 per person may be obtained by mailing a check and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Church Office, 102 Green Street, Fairhaven, MA. 02719, or by stopping at the office between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Council on Aging

In this issue of Presto Press Mattapoisett Seniors will find our ad listing our Minibus trips for the month of May. Please cut out this ad and save for future reference. Please note that to make reservations for trips it is necessary to phone or stop off at our office in the Town Hall (telephone 758-3758) between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and and 12:00 noon Monday through Friday, but no more than a week ahead of the date of the trip, unless a closing date is set up for a special trip.

The only new trip on the May schedule is the visit to the Tomaquag Indian Memorial Museum at Exeter, Rhode Island. The Museum maintains a collection of native American artifacts from across the continent, but is especially proud of its large and varied collection of southern New England ash splint baskets. Southern New England was the original center of highly skilled basketmakers. The Mohegans and Niantics also introduced the art of stamping designs on baskets. The Museum also maintains a large doll collection featuring lovely corn husk dolls, as well as many other historical articles and archeological specimens from this area. Because the Museum does not open until 1 o'clock, a stop will be made for lunch before going to the Museum.

May we again urge more Seniors to take advantage of our Minibus trips, and offer suggestions on places to go. If a group of at least eight wants to arrange a theatre party, it would be possible to arrange to use the Minibus, but check with us first.

Beer & Wine is Served

The title sums up the action of John Ford Noonan's play which is in many ways like an old Playhouse 90, running just under an hour and one half. Noonan's analysis of modern marriages and friendship is clever, relying on quick retorts; and there are a few moments of poetic vision. Maude Mix and Hannah Mae Bindler are watered down Albee/Williams types. Nevertheless, they offer the two actresses a whole ball game of emotions to bat about.

As the Westchester, N.Y. matron whose husband has flings during the week, but customarily returns weekends, Marion Blaszies gives an intense performance. Her husky voice works particularly well in creating the illusion of strength. The play hinges on reversals and unmasking human weakness.

Adding just the right amount of spice and zaniness is Marcia Grant as the pesty relocated Texas neighbor with a macho lug of a husband who is not above wife beating. Ms. Grant is an excellent comedian and lovely to watch. Both actresses have a heyday in the fight scene.

"A Coupla White Chicks" is over before you realize it, largely because of Peg Holzemer's rapid fire direction. Ms. Holzemer's literate interpretation has caught every nuance. She is to be praised for selecting this off-beat, psychological character exercise and has directed her actresses to perfection.

distant past. He now supports himself by teaching at a university, though his wife's income provides the comforts he enjoys in his chic suburban Connecticut cottage that is adorned with terrifying murder weapons. This collection of lethal daggers and spears, crossbows and garottes are mementoes of the mystery writer's past productions, and he is clearly not averse to using any one of them to get himself another hit.

An ardent follower, a student in one of his writing seminars, has just sent him a copy of a murder mystery. The writer offers the young man the benefit of his experience as collaborator on this script, never admitting that it is perfect as it stands. When he is refused, he blithely proposes to do away with the obstinately defiant student and present the play as his own.

Out of this seemingly straightforward announcement of intended murder follows a most intricate and surprising twist of plot that propels the events into further dark deeds of mayhem. The writer's wife, his lawyer and a neighbor with psychic gifts figure into the action, at the end of which a good percentage of the characters have fallen victim to the foreboding weapons on the wall.

Peg Holzemer will direct Theatre One's production pf "Deathtrap" with a cast that will have Steven McFerron (Sidney Bruhl) as the slithery, disdainful writer, and Tom Lynde (Clifford Anderson) as the talented student. Marcia Grant (Myra Bruhl) will be seen as the overwrought wife and Marnie DeMarsh (Helga Ten Drop) as a Dutch lady loaded with ESP. Michael Shea (Porter Milgrim) will have the role of the proper lawyer with a few quirks of his own.

The setting of a self-consciously affluent, antique-laden rustic colonial Connecticut home will be designed by Bryant Anderson, and the lighting effects will be devised by Steven Larrett. Audiences are earnestly begged not to reveal the plot of "Deathtrap" so that others will be able to enjoy and scream at its many surprises.

One of the big features of the set for "Deathtrap" is a wall full of exotic death-dealing weapons. Theatre One's Property Master is on a search for some of these lethal devices, so if you happen to own a medieval crossbow, an African assagai, a Malay kris, or any such murderous plaything, please contact Mary Theresa Saurman at 947-5091 (anytime). Some early American landscapes were wood panels which were inserted into walls over the fireplace. They usually were imaginary views that contained a replica of the house in which they were painted. "Overmantel from the Gardiner Gilman House, Exeter, New Hampshire," dates to the late 18th century. On loan from the Amon Carter Museum, Texas, it is a fine example of these early landscapes.

Loans to this exhibition will come from New York State Historical Association in Cooperstown, the New Britain Museum of American Art, the Lyman Allyn Museum, the Springfield Museum of Fine Arts, The Portland Museum of Art, Iowa's Davenport Museum, and the Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C.

"The Rockets' Red Glare: An 1812 History" is an exhibit which surveys the war between America and Great Britain. Regional differences between New England merchants and frontier farmers and the engagements in Canada, at sea, along the Chesapeake and finally at New Orleans are examined. Displays include art, weapons, uniforms and insignia of United States and British troops, plus manuscripts and artifacts from the second and last war fought between Britain and young America. Maps, statistical data and views of historians help to interpret this often misunderstood and complex war.

Loans include those from Salem's Essex Institute, The Lilly Library at Indiana University, New York State Parks and Recreation Commission, Sackets Harbor Battlefield State Historic Site, St. Lawrence Parks Commission in Morrisburg, Ontario, Charlestown's USS Constitution Museum Foundation and the West Point Museum at the U.S. Military Academy.

"Automotive Art" is the special exhibit in the lower gallery of the Shaker Round Barn presenting paintings, lithographs and drawings, bronzes, models, the hood ornaments of several distinctive automotive

Coupons for Cancer Test

Thousands of Massachusetts residents received a potentially lifesaving gift from their neighborhood American Cancer Society Crusade volunteer on April 26, according to Michael Egan, M.D., Medical Vice President of the Cancer Society's Greater New Bedford Unit.

In addition to collecting contributions in the Society's annual educational and fund-raising campaign, volunteers distributed special coupons redeemable for a free, take-at-home stool blood test, Dr.Egan noted. Blood in the stool is an early sign of possible bowel cancer, the second leading cancer killer of American men and women.

Residents of Mattapoisett can redeem their coupons on May 10th at the Post Office, Route 6, 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m.; Public Health Nurse, Town Hall, Main Street, 9 a.m. to 12 noon; or at the American Legion Hall, Depot Street, from 12 to 1 p.m.

"If you are 50 years of age or over or have a history of bowel cancer and did not receive a coupon, you can still go there and get a free kit", Dr. Egan said.

WalkAmerica

The March of Dimes is planning a Cape-wide Superwalk weekend scheduled for Saturday, May 14th, and Sunday, May 15th. By holding four walks simultaneously there will be a unified effort on Cape Cod in the fight against birth defects.

Walks are planned on Saturday, May 14th, in Falmouth and Chatham, and on Sunday, May 15th, in Hyannis and Wareham. All walks, excluding Hyannis, will begin at 9:00 a.m. and the Hyannis walk will begin at 10:00 a.m.

Walkers will follow a 25 km. trek stopping at checkpoints along the way to rest and have refreshments. Walkers secure sponsors prior to the walk to pledge them for each kilometer they complete. Participants are provided food and refreshments along the way and entertainment at the end of the walk.

All money raised from the walk will be used in the prevention and treatment of birth defects. Funds are channelled into public and professional health education, community services and research grants. The March of Dimes strives for the day when all children will have the opportunity to be born in perfect health. Your footsteps will bring us closer to that day.

Residents are urged to join their local Superwalk and help make birth defects a part of the past.

For more information concerning the walks, call the March of Dimes at 947-1519.
